The TATLER
1950 Year Book

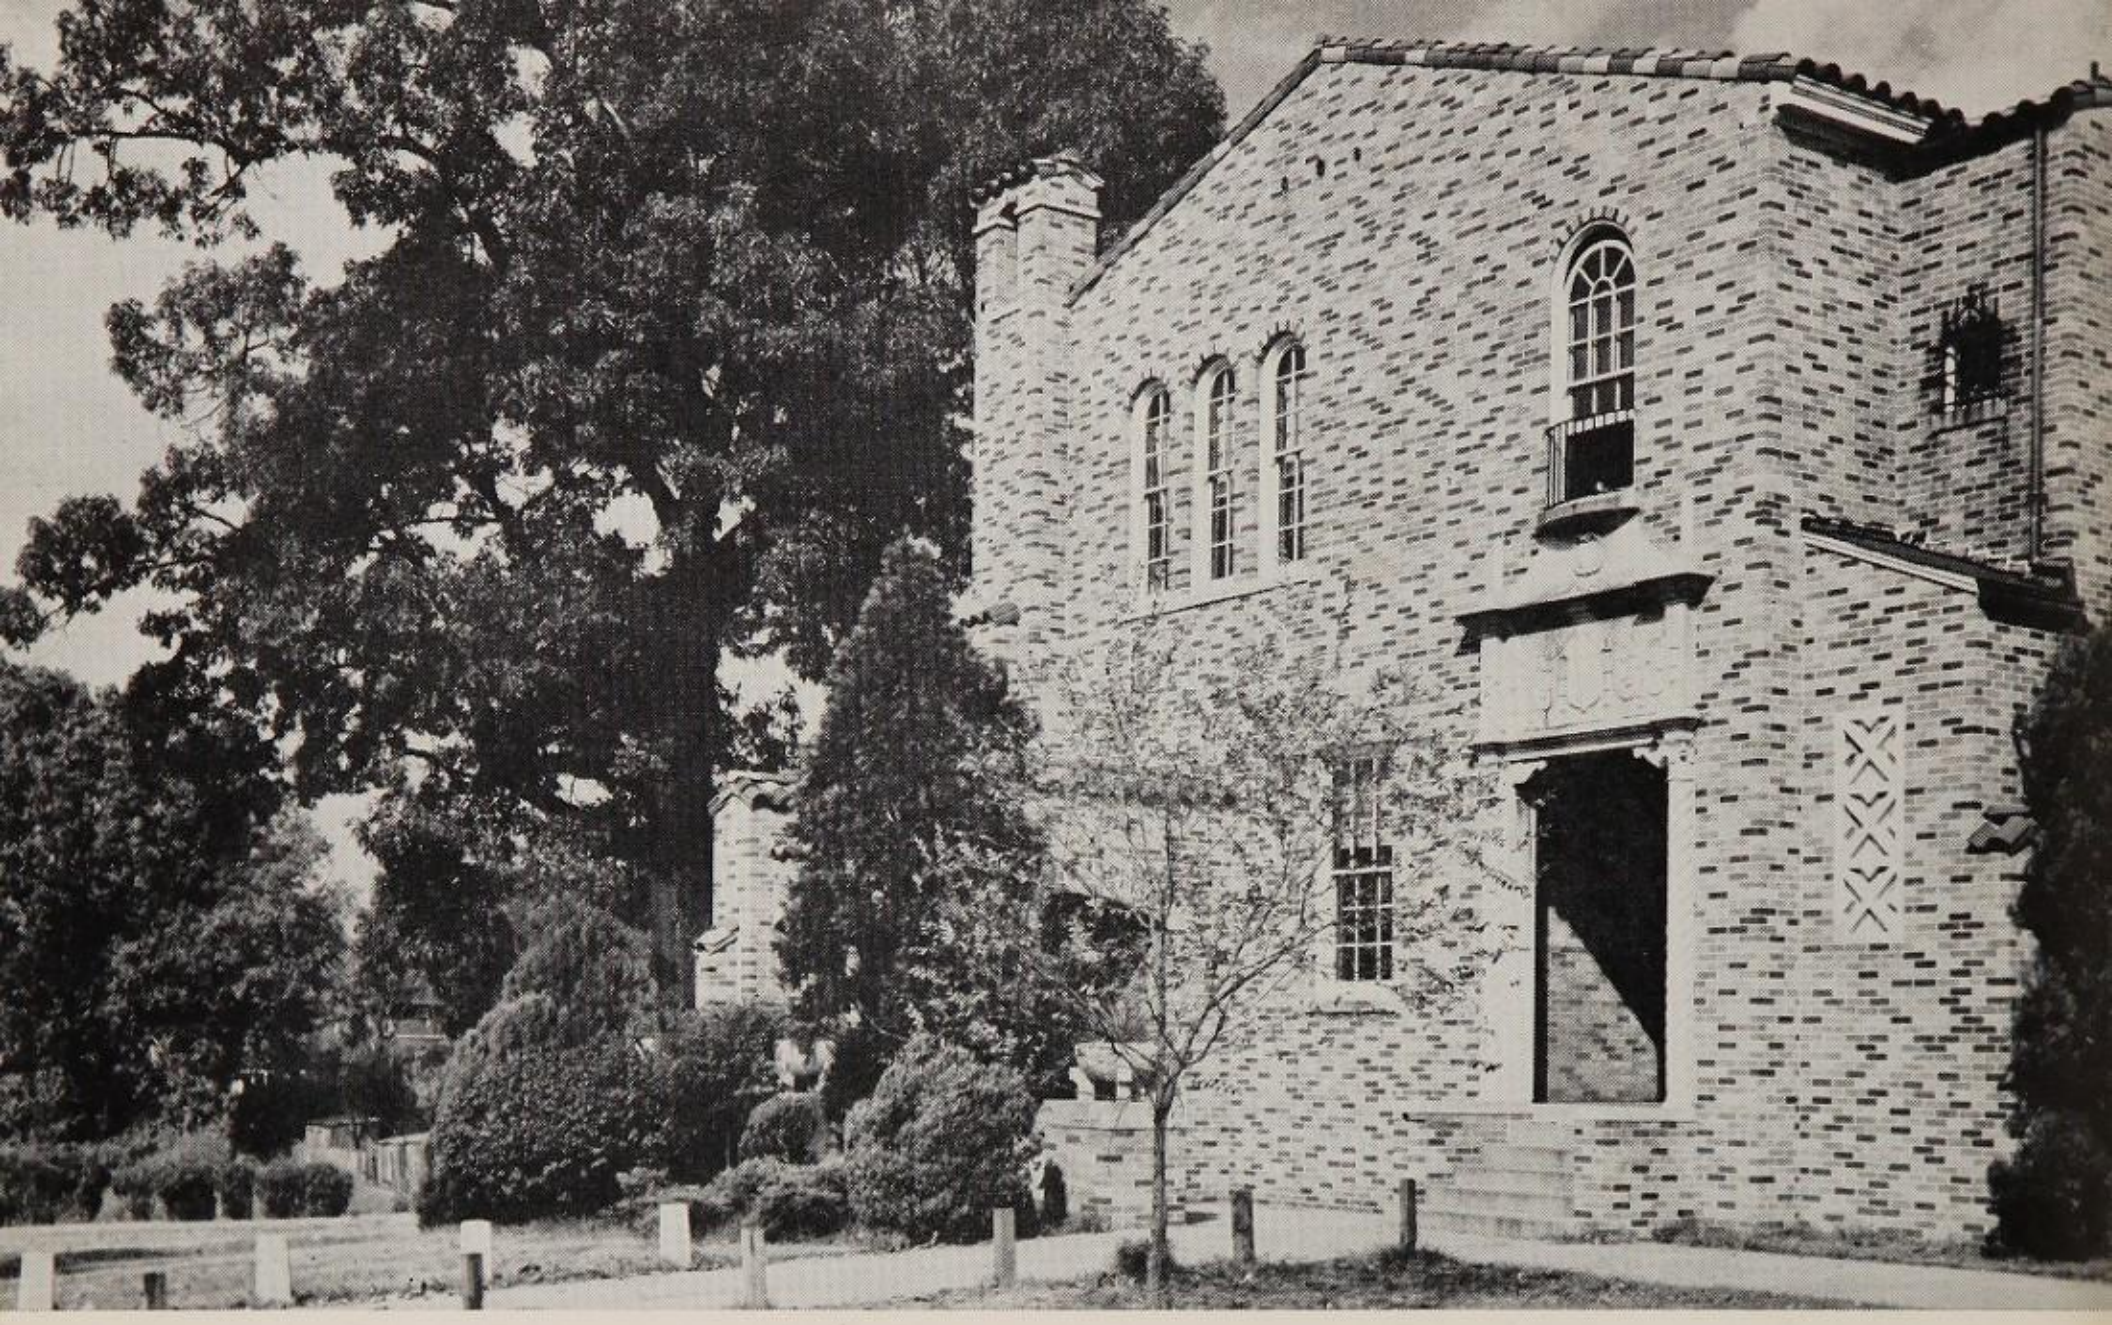
Published by

THE SENIOR CLASS

of

JACKSON HIGH SCHOOL

Jackson, Tennessee



Foreword...

We, the Staff, have worked hard this year to make THE TATLER as attractive as possible and still stay within our allotted budget. The support of the student body and the Jackson merchants has been greatly appreciated, for without it the Staff could not have completed a successful year.

We hope that this book will serve as a reminder of happy days at Jackson High School.

THE TATLER STAFF

"O Lord of splendid nations, let us dream
Not of a place of barter, nor 'the State',
But dream as lovers dream — for it is late —
Of some small place, beloved: perhaps a stream
Running beside a house set around with flowers:
Perhaps a garden wet with hurrying showers,
Where bees are thick about a leaf-hid gate:
For such as these, men die nor hesitate.
The old gray cities, gossipy and wise,
The candid valleys, like a woman's brow,
The mountains treading mightily toward the skies,
Turn dreams to visions — there's a vision now!
Of hills panoplied, fields of waving spears,
And a great campus shaken with flags and tears."

From "THE LAND" by Struthers Burt.

President's Address

ROBERT EWING

Fellow members of the class, Ladies and Gentlemen: We, the class of 1950, have come to the end of a short journey, or rather we have stopped to rest in a bright spot before we continue the one long journey which we all must take. While we rest it may be of advantage to look upon the past as well as the future. It is my pleasure, at least, to look over the ways we have traveled. We have been learners together, and the teachings of our experience have been full of beauty and earnestness. We have feasted together with the great and good of other times and other climes; we have regaled ourselves at the fountains of history and eloquence or at the enchanting streams of poetry and travel. We have been influenced, too, by the words of cheer given by these our instructors, whose kindness we shall never forget.

We well remember Prometheus, the great figure of Mythology who brought fire from heaven that men of skill and industry might begin their long journey toward truth and power. He was the fire-bringer, and every great or useful man and woman since his time has been a light-bearer. Looking back over the long course of history, we can see the way by which we have come because so many men and women have lighted the darkness of ignorance.

These lights have been kindled with infinite toil and self-denial; they have been fed with sacrifice, with aspiration, with heroic work, and with unfailing courage. Many torches have been lighted by them and in turn have augmented their splendor. This is what gives the famous schools their hold on the imagination and makes the lesser schools dear to our hearts. Generation after generation dips its torch into the fire and goes its way toward the future to make the highway brighter for those who come after.

Today there are lamps in all our hands, but some are faint and intermittent like the glow worms on a summer night; others shine like stars. The saints, the martyrs, the poets, the teachers, the heroes of science, the statesmen of genius and character—these are the torch-bearers of the past. We have been lighting and feeding our lamps. Shall they flicker faintly in the winds of destiny, or shall they be fanned into a clearer flame by the adverse winds of the world?

The time has come when each of us must answer this question. We have left behind us our care-free days on the upland, the valley of decision lies before us.

Seniors, we are going forth today,
God bless you every one,
To try to run this stubborn world
Just as it should be run;
We're told that we will find
That facts do not always track with dreams,
And running this old world is not
As easy as it seems.

Class History

BETTY CHEATHAM

(Pantomime)

Give the 1950 class an "E" for energy, eminence, and excellence. It is one of the finest classes Jackson High School has ever produced. Don't take my word for it—look at the record and see for yourself.

Let's begin in September, 1946. We started our high school days with a bang. Our officers were: President, Robert Ewing; Vice-president, Jack Dunning; Secretary, Jane Marcum; and co-treasurers, Sara Wahl and Sid Spragins. Maybe an explanation is due for the two treasurers. The simple truth was, we just did not trust each other with our money.

That year Frieda Wilcox and Jane Marcum made the first string team in girls' basketball. Quite a record to be proud of because these two girls are the only ones ever to wear four stripes on their sweaters. Don't forget Jo Ann Ray and Jacqueline Thompson, who sport around with three stripes on theirs.

To top off the year was CERTIFICATION! We were the last class to receive such an honor. What fun that was. It was just like graduating—caps, gowns, and all. We knew what to expect then at our real graduation three years hence. That was something to look forward to and to work for with eagerness. And our freshman year swept by.

And then we came to high school! Oh, how excited we were. Just think—sophomores! That sounded mighty big, but we soon found that our superiors didn't think so. We soon learned our way around, and felt that we owned the place. We decided to put Robert at the head of our class again. Evelyn Collins came through with two honors in '48. She was both cheerleader and football maid.

During our Sophomore year we were big in number but little in outstanding feats—but just wait until next year!

After the newness and uncertainty of high school wore off, we really started our junior year with earnestness. Our class officers for that year were: President, Billy Cooper; Vice-president, Frieda Wilcox; Secretary, Jerry Ward; and Treasurer, Ted Pearson.

Our class was represented in practically every activity that year. Evelyn Collins, Elaine Jones, Jane Marcum, Mary Sue Woody, and Garvin Shults were elected cheerleaders from our class, and did a good job, too.

Paula Clayton and Lawrie Beth Crawford were two of the three majorettes leading our band, and how they did strut! Fourteen out of fifty-one members of the band were juniors. That year the band went to New York City for the Lions' International Convention and won fourth place. Not bad, huh? Then came the Strawberry Festival in Humboldt, and who should walk off with first place? Why, JHS, of course.

Class History

Also, Jane Marcum and Jack Dunning held responsible places as Sports Editor and Photographer of the monthly TATLER.

Sports? Did someone mention sports? Just listen! Our boys won the sixteenth district, and fourth unit, and were runners-up in the regional tournament. The girls were not forgotten, because Frieda and Jane were still going strong.

Remember football? What a team! The season's results were not bad. Then the Golden Bears released all their fury on Grover-Cleveland of St. Louis in the third annual Exchange Bowl game. Incidentally, we won.

But we had more than brawn, we had our brains, too. There were 69 members in the National Honor Society and 39 of that number were juniors. Our intellectuals were well represented in the NHS play entitled "Take Your Medicine." The hilarious comedy starred one of our members, Don Young.

It was thus, amid worry and good times, that we ended our junior year and gazed into the future at our senior year.

The year, 1950, then rolled around, and that was really our year! What a senior class!! We had the best football and basketball teams anyone could have dreamed of. Our boys went all-out for sports that year, for everyone kept reminding them that this was our last year in good 'ole JHS. Well, it didn't prove to be the last for some of them, but as far as sports were concerned, it was—so they made it the best. In football, we were, OH! so proud of that unscored-upon record, and then we let Lexington come along and break that. We managed to live through that, but the very next weekend—the fatal date was November 11—the Paris Bluedevils unmercifully beat us. Our poor little hearts were absolutely broken! At the homecoming game, Evelyn was queen, Elaine Jones was maid, and George Truett and Earl Goff were co-captains. A great disappointment came when our team was promised a bowl game, and then didn't get to play—all because of some little rule a man dug up at the last minute.

In basketball our boys won the district trophy by beating Bemis, and came mighty close to winning the regional. Messick is all that stood in our way.

About that time, the list came out announcing our honor students, as well as the ones at the foot of our class. Beverly Butler was on top, as we always predicted, Juanita Edwards was our salutatorian, and Lillian Cundiff, our essayist. You, Betty, were elected to receive the DAR good citizenship award. And you, Anne, along with Jacqueline Thompson and Robert Ewing, got honorable mention. We proved that there were other brains in our class, too, when Paula Clayton and Charles Warmath made those grand speeches in the DAR contest.

We had some good actors and actresses, also. For the Jr.-Sr. play, we furnished eight, which included Pat Cunliffe, our traditional actress.

We had a great year, and we wouldn't have been able to do it, if it hadn't been for Robert's fine leadership, with the assistance of his cabinet composed of Mollie Waldrop, Earl Goff and Ted Pearson.

"These are difficult days; the times make great demands upon us. More than ever the world needs our help, our full co-operation.

"No longer can we escape by refusing to face the world; it is impossible to remain in dreams or mope in ivory towers. We dare not be indifferent. Awake to reality, we must answer the summons with the voice of life and the challenge of truth.

"Mankind has dreamed of goodness and justice, of peace and the pursuit of happiness. It is for us to make that dream come true."

It is Louis Untermeyer who says:

"Who can lie listlessly in ivory towers!
Are we not given courage to engage
The evil nightmare of unspeakable powers
And storm indifference with a joyful rage?
Armed with a purpose and this dream of ours,
Arise! Arise! Confront this challenging age."

Class Day Poem

LINA SMALL MATTHEWS
ADRIENNE FREEMAN

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the senior class to graduate this year.
Surely we were the best of classes
So many handsome lads and lasses.
For instance, could you find one in books
To rival Lucy Ann Beacham's looks?

And Shirley Jones was a pretty sight;
To look at her was quite a delight.

Doris Ann Woods was one smart lass,
For in Latin she could always pass.

In High School's basketball Hall of Fame
Will be written Kenton Burnette's name.

A nicer girl you've never met
Than one whose name is Beverly Arnette.

Let's hope in the future some girl will get
Gene Deaton and his cornet.

Patsy Gaffney with her beaus galore,
How could she ask for anything more?

Our nurses, Jacquey Clark and Betty Harris, someday
Will steal some doctors' hearts away.

Fred Conger, our promising preacher,
Is also a pet of the teacher.

We can picture Nancy Robinette and her violin small,
Ready to play at Carnegie Hall.

There's one who has a winning smile
It's Greta Young who shows it all the while.

Bill Cox has become quite a guy
Since the distant days of Junior High.

Joyce Walding has been looking forward to June
Because she might be marrying soon.

There's one who has acquired great fame
In D. O.: Charles Smith is his name.

What is it? Why, it's Nancy McNatt to be sure;
To stop her giggling there is no cure.

To Larry Dunn who does all things well,
We want to say we think you're swell.

Jane Marcum's interest in the football games
May have contributed to Jimmy's fame.

Eddie Boyd will be lonesome next year;
Beverly Taylor will still be here.

Barbara Finley is another one that won't know what to do,
'Cause Buddy will be here next year, too.

Ruthie Ramer joined us last year,
And we're mighty glad she is here.

Another brilliant transfer, Bobby Hale,
Excels, by far, many a male.

Ann Palmer has lots of fun,
She gets to leave school every day at one.

Fred Michie, a familiar sight,
Drives his car with all his might.

Remember our reporter, Elizabeth Ann,
If she can't get news, nobody can.

James Hubbell, another grad,
Is, to all of us, a very fine lad.

Martha Ann Weeks, that studious gal,
Has personality plus and many a pal.

Don't forget Woods Holloway,
In football we gave him a loud hurray.

A girl, whom we think is a lot of fun,
Is our actress, Nancy Swearengen.

Tommy Thompson, a happy man,
Is also an ardent tennis fan.

Erlene Wilson, in her quaint way,
Is never in need of a sweet word to say.

Jeanette Moore doesn't worry about books;
She doesn't need to with her good looks.

We'll say no more about our class—
A class beyond compare.
But when this day is gone and passed,
Sweet memories we'll share.
And as we dream of days gone by
Where each one played his part,
The memory of the '50 class
Lives ever in our heart.

Class Prophecy

JACQUELINE THOMPSON
MOLLIE WALDROP

TIME: Fifteen years in the future.

CHARACTERS: Two members of the graduating class of 1950 who are now married.

SETTING: Jacqueline's living room.

SCENE: As the curtain is drawn, Jacqueline is seen slumped in a chair, exhausted from her spring cleaning. She is idly reading a newspaper when the doorbell rings.

J. I'm too exhausted to go to the door. Come in.

(Enter Mollie. She has evidently spent the morning shopping, for her arms are loaded with bundles. She is carrying a baby and leading a dog on a leash. Two small children are hanging onto her skirts.)

M. Guess who is the highest paid model for men's fashions?

J. Who?

M. Sam Powers. I remember when I used to look at Sam and wonder why some modeling agency didn't just snatch him up.

J. That reminds me. I was just reading in the paper about another one of our classmates who has become famous. Jo Ann Ray has been filibustering in the Senate for the past six months as to whether tiger hunting shall be made legal in the United States.

M. Did you know that Tobe Bailey was voted the year's most eligible bachelor?

J. Oh, I thought that surely one of those cute high school Juniors would get him.

M. Well, Thomas Oliver has certainly set a fine example for a happy marriage and he has really built up the shoe business, too.

J. Here's an article written by Pat Brewer entitled "The Plagues and Pains of Latin, or Death Takes Its Toll." She's certainly making a fine editor for The Jackson Sun.

M. Speaking of intellects, I heard the other day that Paul Wilson will take Mr. Crane's place as principal of Jackson High School when he retires next month.

J. You remember how smart Juanita Edwards was, don't you?

M. Yes.

J. She's now the test pilot for those new hydrogen jet planes.

M. Oh, here's something about Nancy Hoots. She's president of the Stucco Lipstick Company. She always kept right up to date on the latest shades in lipstick.

J. Here's an article in the paper about that great inventor, Neville Stewart. He has just perfected a new flea powder guaranteed to give dogs that peace of mind they've always longed for.

M. Did you hear the wonderful news? Billy Joe Robinson struck oil in his father's gas station and is now a millionaire.

J. Well, talk about luck, on Stop the Music the other night, Betty Jean Patterson won Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, the United Nations Building, and the Waldorf Astoria.

M. Guess who was in town the other night?

J. Who?

M. Our old classmate Horace Taylor. He is now a tobacco auctioneer in Kentucky and just happened to be passing through Jackson.

J. (Glancing at the paper) Listen to this want "ad." Wanted: A man. Preferably tall and handsome. Only requirement—must have $20,000. For audition call Nancy Miller—7-2084.

M. Since you have the paper there, see what's on at the show. I'm so tired I think I would like a little change.

J. Let me see. (Turning page of paper) At the Paramount—"The World's Greatest Emotional Movie Actress—Nancy White in 'Misunderstood.' Prices advanced to $1.50. You will be enthralled and captivated by Miss White's large soulful eyes."

Oh, here's something good. "The second Rudolph Valentino, Jerry Ward, starred in 'The Grandson of the Sheik'."

M. By the way, did you see Bill Scates' picture in last night's paper? He won a wonderful trip to Europe just by spelling 5,000 words correctly in some contest. You remember what a wonderful speller he used to be.

J. Guess what Jo Anne Allred is doing now?

M. The last I heard she was a tightrope walker.

J. Well, my dear, she's taken up midget auto racing. You wouldn't know her now.

M. Well, speaking of people you wouldn't know, J. C. Hefly recently took a Charles Atlas course and now he's nothing but muscle and brawn.

J. Do you remember James Dismuke?

M. Who? Oh, you mean Buster?

J. Yes, he's now considered the foremost authority on Baby and Child Care in the United States, and since his wife is a nurse, it makes his work so much easier.

M. Donald Coleman has really made a name for himself, too. He just completed a five-volume work explaining his views on Einstein's Theory.

J. To me, Dolores Cooper is the perfect example of a local girl who has made good. She is now forewoman of the new Bird Seed Factory.

M. Talk about Bird Seed, do you remember Peggy Key? She's now become quite an eminent psychiatrist. There are rumors to the effect that she'll soon be sent to Washington to look after the President.

J. Confidentially, have you heard about Athan Holloway?

M. No! What??

J. He knits women's sweaters.

M. Well I never!! You can't imagine who's working for the construction company in the lot next door. Anne Hamilton. She's running a bulldozer.

J. By the way, did you hear about Ramona Mason?

M. No.

J. She's the winner of the National Geographic Hog Calling Contest.

M. What a nice honor. She always did have such a soothing voice.

J. You'll never guess who I saw yesterday? Lillian Cundiff. She's a tree surgeon now. When I saw her, she was amputating a limb of the magnolia tree on the corner.

M. Faye Freeman has also gained fame in the medical field. She's a veterinarian in Vinegar Bend, Mississippi.

J. You can't imagine who has gone into the undertaking business. James Wyatt, with Nancy Bennett as his chief assistant. They were always so serious.

M. Earl Goff has become quite serious, too. He is now writing "Advice to the Lovelorn." He always did have such an ideal love life.

J. Well, tell me, Mollie. Did George Truett ever get married?

M. (Doubtful) I think so. It seems to me that he married somebody named Pat, or Patsy, or maybe it was Patricia.

J. Elaine Jones really was lucky. She's teaching English at Harvard. They don't like to accept women teachers on the faculty, but they made an exception in Elaine's case.

M. Marshall Morris certainly has found his calling. He's now a designer of women's lingerie. (Pause) By the way, whatever happened to Ann Butler?

J. Oh, haven't you heard? She's married now and raising little Hawks.

M. Well, children are a problem. I'll never take all three of mine shopping again.

J. Come on back to the kitchen and I'll fix you a cup of tea. You look as if you need one.

Giftorian Verses

Elaine Jones
Mary Sue Woody

Ray Baker (Key)

This is not a key to geometry,
Nor the key to a treasure chest;
It is not a key to the city,
Nor a key to the Kingdom Blest.
But this key, I'm sure, will do its part—
It is the key to your true love's heart.

Leonard Brown (Trig Book)

If your brain goes jumpety jump,
It's trig, trig, trig.
If your words get stuck in a lump,
It's trig, trig, trig!
If you study without rest,
And dig, dig, dig,
And then get zero on a test,
It's trig, trig, trig!

Pat Cunliffe (Scissors)

And now, dear Pat Cunliffe,
These scissors are like you,
So keen, and bright, and useful,
And made of stuff that's true.
You've cut out what is silly,
You've nothing to regret;
In school you've cut a pattern
We never can forget.

Joan Shelton (a Heart)

Every day in every way,
No matter what the weather,
You and a certain Junior boy
Have strolled around together.
So here's his heart—it's all for you,
As true as we could make it.
Now take it, dear,
And treasure it;
And please, oh please,
Don't break it!

Sue Sublette (Record)

A record, soft and sweet, for Sue
To sing "My Buddy" just for you.

Paul Whiteside (Basketball)

Here's a little token;
You may hang it on the wall.
It's for Paul Whiteside;
He's so good in basketball.

Franklin Murchison (Watch)

My, Tuck, we can't understand
Why you're always late;
So here's this snazzy wrist watch—
Perfect time it will relate.

Juanita Doyle (Glasses)

Here's a pair of glasses;
They're rose colored, too;
And if you see the world through these,
It never will look blue.

Billy Reeves (Skis)

"Skiing is a lot of fun"—
So says Billy Reeves.
So, Billy, when off you go
To the land of snow,
Please take this pair of skis.

Virginia Wilson (Dye)

A bottle of black dye so you
Can tint your locks like Lamar.
Don't think that this is a hint, my dear,
For we love you just as you are.

Charles Gaba (Star)

To you I give a shining star,
You must be wondering why—
Because of your love for Celestial beings,
We picked one from the sky.

Juanita Cooper (Binoculars)

These binoculars might aid you
In your search for a steady beau.
And when you find him—if he has a friend—
Be sure to let me know.

Belton Alper (Post)

If anyone says "yes", then you say "no."
Arguing seems to be your fate;
So here's a post to argue with—
Maybe for once, you'll win the debate.

Jimmy Matthews (Candle)

You burn your candle at both ends,
It will not last the night;
But to your friends and foes you say,
"It gives a lovely light."

BOBBY UPTON (Curlers)

You've always longed for unruly locks
So you could "slay" the girls;
Roll up your hair on these each night,
And then you'll have some curls.

CHARLES WARMATH (Doll)

They tell me that girls have a tendency
To put you in an awful fright;
So take this beautiful doll to date
Instead of some girl tonight.

EVELYN COLLINS (Powder)

To Evelyn Collins, who has always done her duty,
I give this box of powder to help her keep her beauty.

MARY KATHERINE CANNON (Roller Skates)

At the skating rink you shine,
Since in this art you are so fine;
So to you we give these skates
To aid you with your many dates.

VIRGINIA HARDY (Basket)

This little basket you will take,
And trip into the town;
When next you are there
You'll buy a cake,
And make him think you can really bake.

PATSY PULLIAM (Bell)

To you we give this little bell;
And when "Jiggs" hears its tinkle,
He'll come a-running and you'll say,
"Darling, when we dine at six,
I'll serve you water and toothpicks."

JIMMY O'NEILL (Pencil)

To Jimmy we present this pencil,
A little late, alas!
To be used in history class.

ROBERT EWING (Wagon)

This little wagon is for you;
It's hitched to a star.
People like you are all too few.
We know you'll travel far.

GLAYDON LIFSEY (Lemon)

Not to suit your personality
But just to clear your throat,
This lemon may help you be governor,
And you'll be sure to get our vote.

THOMAS HOPPER (Pocket Book)

For Thomas Hopper, the other day,
I bought this pocket book.
I hope he'll always keep it full
By some wise hook or crook.

VERA HENRY (a Speedometer)

"Why are you hurrying, my pretty maid?"
"To work in the library," Vera Henry said.
"Why go so fast? You will have a wreck."
"I'm rushing to get to Miss Doak's Home Ec."
"Slow up! Hey! Stop at my command!"
"I've got to serve at the candy stand."
Take this speedometer, for it will say
How many miles you walk each day.

ORLAN YARBRO (a Book)

Orlan, because you're such a studious boy,
We give you this book instead of a toy.
Take it, read it, learn it by heart.
When the time comes in life, you will play your part.

BOBBY JOE BLACKWELL (Term Paper Cards)

Lost! Strayed! or stolen
Bobby Joe Blackwell's Term Paper Cards!
Here are your lost cards, Bobby Joe;
We've heard a lot about them,
But what we'd really like to know
Is how you passed without them.

DOROTHY THOMAS (JONES) (A Rolling Pin)

This gadget, Dorothy, has many uses. It can smooth out delicious pie crust, or it can get even with anyone who has the crust to criticize your cooking. It is equally effective in rolling out the biscuit dough and in separating the dough from an unwilling husband. Use it, Dorothy.

BILLY MONTGOMERY (Salt Shaker)

You're a great hunter, but just the same
You often come back without any game.
If you want to bring home at least one quail,
Try sprinkling salt on the birdie's tail.

JANE GRAVETTE (Eyelash Lotion)

With drooping lids you sit in class;
You are not tired at all.
But you just want us all to see
Your lovely lashes fall.
This stuff will make your lashes grow
And be more charming than before.

IMOGENE JONES (Arrow)

This is not an Indian's arrow;
It is not a Bushman's dart;
It is really Cupid's arrow—
The one that pierced your heart.

DORIS PATTON (A Doll)

"O you beautiful doll,
You great big, beautiful doll!"
Doris, do you look in the glass
Every time you happen to pass?
Then look at this doll, suppose you do.
She thinks she's just as pretty as you.

Class Will

Patsy Gaffney
Jo Ann Brewer

On behalf of my client, the class of 1950, Jackson High School, city of Jackson, state of Tennessee, I have called you together upon this solemn occasion to listen to the last will and testament of said class and to receive from our client's dying hand the few gifts bestowed in the last moments of existence. Listen, then, one and all, while I read the document as duly drawn up and sworn to.

To the Juniors we leave our much-sought-after center aisle seats, our poor, tired brains, and the hope that they will be able to accomplish more with them than we did.

We have thought and thought about a gift for the Sophomores, but have finally come to the conclusion that even with all our talents together, they will never grow up.

To any person who likes to burn the candles at both ends goes Anne Colvin's "A" filled report card.

Mary Jane Coppedge bestows upon Jane Hazlewood her fiery curls and her remarks that match. Maybe with this gift you will be able to speak up in class, Jane.

James Drury wants to divide his height between the Smith twins, who have so little of their own.

Jo Gauldin yields her notes on how to keep your man to Jean Ann Scott, since she has already used it to the best of her ability.

Betsy Grubbs leaves her seat on the Bemis bus to Joyce Shelton just in case she is not able to get a ride for herself.

To Herron Morris, Charles Hester bequeaths his interest in all things mechanical.

Patsy Howell would like to hand down her extra dates to Nancy Brewer. Nancy, dear, you just might find that they are fun.

Garvin Shults, "the lady-killer," wills his most famous technique of keeping the girls wondering to George Foster. George, do you think you can carry on Garvin's tradition?

Henry Sutton has promised to give Bobby Joe Barber his Latin translations, provided that he will continue to keep up his grades. What do you say to that, Bobby?

Betty Wilson has been selected to receive Frieda Wilcox's wonderful cook book and hope chest. Betty, wonder if it can do for you what it's already done for Frieda?

Lovable Bonnie Ragan, who is so particular with her seats in the auditorium at lunch time, wishes her favorite ones to go to the lucky couple who gets there first.

Lina Matthews bequeaths her good luck in coming out of narrow escapes with her car unmarred to Mona Murray.

Billy McKissack bestows upon John "Sweetie Pie" McKenzie his ability to keep out of trouble on Hallowe'en.

Mary Howell Anderson bequeaths her dark beauty and sophistication to Catherine Oliver.

Frank Robins falls heir to Kinzie Barker's rubber-band enclosed history book. We hope you can keep it together better than Kinzie did, Frank.

To Charlie Little, Clinton Buck leaves his ability to milk cows, in the hope that it will aid him on the road to success.

June Lofton presents to Peggy Barnes, who is by no means lacking in this line, her sunny disposition.

Billy Boone hands down his title as "Most girl-shy boy" to Dickie Beare. We are hoping, however, that you will be able to overcome this, Dickie.

Jacqueline Thompson would like Joyce Henry to have her place as a guard on our next year's basketball team.

To Bobby McFarland is bequeathed "Charlie" Ferguson's lovely deep voice. I bet you will be able to sing most any opera you want to now, Bobby.

Bobby Osborne leaves his aptness in out-racing any car on the road to Bobby Allison and his little Bantam.

Ted Pearson yields his aptitude for saying a lot in a very few words to Billy Bailey.

Charles Pearson presents to Billy Frank Hammonds his muscle-building apparatus.

Don Young wills to Bill Ray his winning personality. With his personality and your own nice one combined, Bill, you should make a hit with all the girls.

Jimmy Harper, who is usually seen and not heard, would like Jimmy McCord to have this same characteristic.

To Homer Carl Howell go all Tommy Dawson's recipes for sodas and such. This should make him just about the best soda jerk in town.

Karline Moody bestows upon Gay Rush her aptitude for making up her mind, and thus staying on the bright side of life.

Bobby Henderson will be glad to hear that he is to receive Monte Tyson's extra credits. Monte has already won his diploma, and we hope that you will, too, in the not too distant future.

Bobby Webb, who loves to entertain all the girls in sight at lunch time, leaves his jokes to Jimmy Cannon. Please let everyone enjoy them, Jimmy.

Betty Cheatham, who loves to eat but never gains weight, bestows upon Barbara Henson this same ability.

Barbara Vester and Nancy Jones bequeath to Jane Lindy their wedding plans with the wish that they will keep her contented until she can make some of ther own.

To Carolyn Depriest goes Ruth Witherspoon's graceful carriage and quiet ways. These small gifts may enhance your own beauty a wee bit.

Peggy Roberts wills her aptness for hard work to Joanne Williams. To be a nurse, Joanne, you really must have that quality.

To the faculty, whom we have learned to love, we leave many memories—some good, and some bad—and the knowledge that we appreciate everything that they have tried to do for us.

We do hereby constitute and appoint our class president, Robert Ewing, sole executor of this our last will and testament, in witness whereof, we, the class of 1950, do set our hand and seal on this, the second day of June.

THE CHALLENGE OF YOUTH

Humanity has placed in youth's hands the future of the world. We have a challenge that has not been equaled in times past. Our knowledge and our faith will determine the existence of our civilization and the extent to which it may develop.

Some of our elders condemn the youth of today for many shortcomings. They say that we are a wild and reckless generation, unsettled and confused. Actually our critics are the ones who should be condemned, for they have not succeeded in making this a better world. Now we are challenged to accomplish what they have failed to do.

No one doubts that the world is in a troubled condition today. Is our civilization to crumble into dust as did the great empires of the past? Or will it develop until "Thy Kingdom Come" shall be an actuality. The answer will be determined by our actions.

Now, what must we do to make this a peace-loving world, and a world of higher moral standards? Many men have sought to find a solution to this difficult problem, but as yet they have not succeeded. And they will continue to fail until they turn to the Christian way of life. There is no other way. We must all turn our hearts and minds toward Christ—we must follow our Master in thought, in word, and in deed.

As we are leaving high school, there are many paths of life that confront us. Some of them lead to wealth and power; others, to prestige and adventure; but only one, to happiness, for happiness is something that neither money nor power can secure. Along some of these broad paths are many illusions and mirages of greatness. Ultimately, however, these paths lead only to disaster. At their completion the traveler finds that he has wasted his life and destroyed himself in the quest of nothing.

But somewhere along the way of life, in an obscure place half overgrown with thorns and thistles, there is another path. To some it does not look inviting. It is the way that all great men have gone to find the joy of living. It is the way that the greatest of all men has marked out for us; it is the only way to a useful and abundant life. By following this path we live in harmony with the spiritual and moral laws of our universe, and thus we find happiness.

We, the youth of today, must accept the challenge that confronts us. In our every day life, we must follow the path of Christian living, which, if we travel it faithfully, will become illumined by "a shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

Class Jokes

FRIEDA WILCOX GARVIN SHULTS HORACE TAYLOR

When Harry Todd Saunders handed in his English exam, he taped a life saver to it in a hopeful gesture. The paper came back with a low grade and an aspirin tablet.

Betty June Martin, after talking with some members of the chorus class said: "A quartet is a group of four, each of which thinks that the other three can't sing."

Miss Anna: "What was the occasion for the quotation, 'Why don't you speak for yourself, John?' "
Bill Smith: "John Alden was trying to fix up a blind date for his friend, Miles Standish."

"Love hasn't changed much in the last two thousand years," remarked Pat Raper to Gerthal Wilson. "I read in a history book that Greek girls used to sit up all evening listening to a lyre."

Corinne Tomlin: "Why didn't you find out that cute new boy's name when the teacher called the roll?"
Joyce Taylor: "I did but he answered four different times."

When Joyce Jeanette Moore was in New Orleans, someone mentioned the French Quarter, and she thought it was a rare coin.

At a school banquet Marie Howell was called upon to respond to the toast, "Long live the teachers."
Her response in full was: "On what?"

Ray Jordan (excitedly): "I'm calling the sheriff's office. This little container has Dynamite printed on it."
Cooper McRae: "Don't get excited. It's just Jo Ann Brewer's lip stick."

"Was the baby all right while we were gone?" the mother asked Jacqueline Beatty, who was baby-sitting.
"Yes," answered Jacqueline, "until just a minute ago when he swallowed a bug. But there's nothing to worry about, for I gave him some insect powder right away."

Betty Allison: "Billy, how did you break your arm?"
Billy Miller: "Do you see those stairs over there?"
Betty: "Yes."
Billy: "Well, I didn't."

Miss Williams: "Lawrie Beth, do you believe in the two-party system?"
Lawrie Beth Crawford: "Yes, one on Friday night and one on Saturday."

As Tommy Cook was sitting in a big life-guard chair in the middle of a desert, a stranger approached him and said: "Don't you know that you are at least five-hundred miles from water?"
"Yes," replied Tommy, "but isn't it a wonderfully large beach!"

One of Charles Gay's teachers after writing on the board, "I didn't have no fun over the week end," said, "Now, Charles, how can I correct this?"
"Just get yourself a boy friend," said Charles.

After getting short-changed at a store recently, Norma Jean Pope said: "That clerk is so crooked that the wool she pulled over my eyes was probably fifty percent cotton.

Seeing a weighing machine up town bearing the words "I speak your weight," Sammy Pate jumped on the scales and put a penny in the slot. Then a voice said: "One at a time, please."

Miss Doak: "Nancy, why don't you use that alarm clock you got for Christmas?"
Nancy Whetstone: "Why, that thing always goes off while I'm still asleep."

While Mollie Waldrop was treating her minister to a chicken dinner one day, he said: "That's a fine looking rooster out in the yard. Doesn't he look proud?"
"Well, he has reason to be," said Mollie. "One of his sons has just entered the ministry."

Mary Sue Woody (saying her prayers): "Dear Lord, please bring him back safe, sound, and single."

Adrienne Freeman says that ignorance means when you don't know something and somebody finds it out.
Gerthal Wilson was at a dance with her boy friend when he said: "I love to dance; it's in my blood."
Gerthal replied: "Well, you must have bad circulation. It hasn't reached your feet yet."

Rebecca Johnson: "That was a cute fellow you were with. Where did he hail from?"
Dale Dennison: "From a 1950 convertible."

When Bobby Holmes crashed through a red light the other day, a traffic cop stepped up and handed him a revolver. "Hey, Bud," he said, "use this; it's quicker."

H. L. Hawk (to Ann Butler): "Why is it that the average girl would rather have beauty than brains?"
Ann Butler: "Because the average man can see better than he can think."

Paula Clayton: "Jack, what is the trouble with America's foreign relations?"
Jack Dunning: "They are all broke."

Norris Avey says: "I wish I had a girl with plenty of money to burn. I think I would be a good match for her."

Jerry Haley (to osteopath): "Are you a bone doctor?"
Doctor: "Yes, I am."
Jerry: "Will you fix these bones so they'll come up seven every time?"

The Junior Red Cross Council of Jackson High School was organized in 1940. Since that time, great strides have been made in carrying out the aims of the American Red Cross. This year gift boxes were shipped to children overseas and an international album was sent to Egypt. Nut cups, tray favors, and ash trays were made for the veterans of the Memphis hospitals. At home, Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets were delivered to the unfortunate families of our city.

The National Honor Society might well be called the "Gold Tassel and Gold Seal Club" of Jackson High School, for graduating members of this organization wear gold tassels on their caps and also receive a special gold seal on their diploma.

The National Honor Society of Jackson High School was organized in 1947. Juniors and seniors with an average of 88 and above are eligible for membership.

Hi-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," is the purpose of Hi-Y.

Two chapters of the Hi-Y meet every Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. The programs that were presented to the club during the year consisted of numerous speeches, which were exceptionally good, musical numbers, and motion pictures. Varied social activities have been uplifting as well as entertaining. The highlight of our religious activities was the Thanksgiving Service, which because of its popularity will become an annual affair.

This club, under the splendid leadership of Mr. Ernest Horton; and under the excellent direction of Mr. T. Aubrey Morse, Y. M. C. A. Director and faculty sponsors has been of decided advantage to our school by providing a six weeks "discussion course," along with wholesome recreation and rich fellowship. Our club also encourages every boy in school to take part in community projects.

Officers of the "Sir George Williams" chapter are:

Tri-Hi-Y

This year, owing to the large number of girls anxious to join Tri-Hi-Y, the club was divided into two chapters. The Junior-Senior chapter was named in honor of Mrs. Laverne Hodge, the former sponsor. The Sophomore chapter adopted the name, the Alice Freeman Palmer Chapter. The Tri-Hi-Y aim, "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character," has been well carried out by the fine work of these two chapters.

Jackson High School Band

The Jackson High School Band, an organization of sixty pieces, has become quite well-known throughout West Tennessee. The band has won Division I (Superior) honors at both the District and State Festivals, and has won First Prize at the Humboldt Strawberry Festival for the past four years. This year the band was chosen to play on the Royal Barge at the Cotton Carnival in Memphis. Full Credit toward graduation is given to band students thereby making it a regular academic subject. This encourages instrumental study and is the foundation for the success of the band.

The Monthly Tatler

This has been a most successful year for the Monthly Tatler. For more than twenty years our school paper has proclaimed the thoughts and ideals, activities, and day by day happenings of the students at JHS. Our paper is the voice of the students. We wish to extend best of luck to the Monthly Tatler in years to come.

Future Homemakers of America

The Jackson High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America, which is affiliated with both state and national organizations, was begun in the fall of 1948. Our main purpose is "working together for better and happier home life for everyone." Some of the main projects of the 1950 school year are as follows: remodeling the teacher's room, serving several formal dinners to state officials, sending gifts to the children across the sea, and presenting the annual fashion show. By group election Betty Ann Wilson was chosen Miss Home Economics, who received a lovely gift from the Parent Teacher's Association.

The purpose of the Hub City Trade and Industry Club, composed of students enrolled in the Diversified Occupations and shop programs, is to provide for social activities which the students miss during their employment. The club encourages members to prepare for leadership and provides activities through which they may develop self-confidence and poise. Members are urged to practice thrift and sound business principles.

The Jackson High chapter is a member of the Associated T & I Clubs of Tennessee. The state convention was held in Clarksville this year. Delegates who attended were Clinton Buck, Lillian Cundiff, Jack Dunning, and Doris Woods. Charles Warmath represented our club in the state spelling and essay contests and received third-place awards in each.

The Distributive Education Club is made up of those students enrolled in the high school class of Distributive Education. These students are taught the necessities which will equip and prepare them for work in the field of distribution. This class room instruction is correlated with on-the-job instruction given these students in local business houses. This program is of mutual benefit to the students and the merchants, and is another practical way in which the school meets the needs of the community.

Cub Lions

Six senior boys have attended the weekly meetings of the Jackson Lions Club. Through these meetings the boys become acquainted with the activities and purposes of the club. At the end of one month, each Cub Lion makes a speech in which he expresses his appreciation for the services rendered him. These boys are selected each year to represent the school by a faculty committee.

Jr. Rotarians

This year eight boys of the Senior class were chosen to attend the meetings of the Jackson Rotary Club for a period of one month. The boys can observe the functions of the club during this time and enjoy the fellowship of its members. For this opportunity, the boys extend their deep appreciation to the Jackson Rotary Club.

They Led Us To Victory

Pep and enthusiasm were the theme of the 1949-1950 cheerleaders as they led our school during the football and basketball seasons. Student representatives and the faculty selected the following: Mary Sue Woody, Frieda Wilcox, Jane Marcum, Elaine Jones, Mona Murray, Jean Ann Scott, Jimmy Carter, Marshall Morris, Garvin Shults, and Dickie Day.

Faculty Sponsors—Miss Esther Shrader, Mr. Jessie Barnes.

Our Royal Football Court

The Football Queen of 1949, Evelyn Collins, and her three maids, Velva Walding, Mona Murray, and Elaine Jones, were nominated by the football team and chosen by the student body after a heated contest. They took part in the Homecoming Parade, November 24. That afternoon at the annual Jackson-Lawrenceburg game they were presented at a ceremony in which George Truett, co-captain, crowned the Queen. The royalty also appeared in the "Spirit of Christmas" parade.

Football

The record set by the 1950 Golden Bears Football Team will never be forgotten. Out of 10 games, our team won eight, tied one (Southside), and lost one (Paris). The Southside game was all wet; that is, it rained from beginning to end. The Paris Blue Devils are well named. They beat us.

With the below record for its season, we could easily be envied by other teams:

Team	Home Score	Visitors	Team	Home Score	Visitors
Bartlett	6	0	Paducah	7	0
Trenton	12	0	Lexington	40	7
Humes	7	0	Paris	6	33
Father Ryan	7	0	Lawrenceburg	39	0
Clarksville	7	0
Southside	0	0	TOTAL	131	40

The seniors who acted as captains are as follows: Earl Goff, center; Ted Pearson, end; Jimmy Matthews, fullback; Paul Whiteside, end; Ray Baker, center; Woods Holloway, tackle; and George Truett, tackle.

Girls' Basketball

The Jackson High School Lady Bears had a very successful year. In the district tournament the Ladies beat Decaturville 39 to 26, but were eliminated when they lost to North Side 27 to 32.

A starting team composed of Jane Marcum, Velva Walding, Frieda Wilcox, Mona Murray, Jacqueline Thompson, and Jo Ann Ray led the girls in most of their games. Other starters included Jean Ann Scott and Shirley Ray. Mollie Waldrop served as manager for the season and Jacqueline Thompson and Velva Walding were co-captains.

Those graduating this year are J. Ray, Wilcox, Marcum, and Thompson. The remaining girls should return next year to form an equally successful team.

Boys' Basketball

The Jackson High basketball team of 1950 ranked among the best in the State. Although our team did not go to the state tournament, they won 22 games and lost 5 during the regular season. Three boys on the team scored 1,003 points. These boys were Billy Cooper (with 411 points), Jimmy Bivens (365 points), and Tobe Bailey (227 points). Billy Cooper set a new scoring record for Jackson High with his 411 points.
